COPYRIGHT AND RESTRICTIONS

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted materials. The various state privacy acts govern the use of materials that document private individuals, groups, and corporations.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a reproduction if the document does not infringe the privacy rights of an individual, group, or corporation. These specified conditions of authorized use include:

- non-commercial and non-profit study, scholarship, or research, or teaching
- criticism, commentary, or news reporting
- as a NPS preservation or security copy
- as a research copy for deposit in another institution

If a user later uses a copy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," the user may be personally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement. This institution's permission to obtain a photographic, xerographic, digital, or other copy of a document doesn't indicate permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, sell, distribute, or prepare derivative works from this document without first obtaining permission from the copyright holder and from any private individual, group, or corporation shown or otherwise recorded.

Permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, prepare derivative works from, sell, or otherwise distribute the item must be obtained by the user separately in writing from the holder of the original copyright (or if the creator is dead from his/her heirs) as well as from any individual(s), groups, or corporations whose name, image, recorded words, or private information (e.g., employment information) may be reproduced in the source material. The holder of the original copyright isn't necessarily the National Park Service. The National Park Service is not legally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement when materials are wrongfully used after being provided to researchers for "fair use."

This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if fulfillment of the order is judged in violation of copyright or federal or state privacy or publicity law.

HISTORY

Frank Forest Latta was born in Orestimba, California on September 18, 1892 to Presbyterian minister Eli C. Latta and teacher Harmonia Campbell. Latta married Jeanette “Jean” Allen in 1919, and they had four children together. From 1915-1945, Latta worked as a teacher in the southern San Joaquin Valley, teaching mechanical drawing and agriculture. However, his true passion lay in the study of California history, a curiosity which began when he interviewed early pioneers for a school project in 1906. Latta continued interviewing and researching the history of the San Joaquin Valley as an adult. This work led him to the story of Thomas Jefferson Mayfield, an old white pioneer who had been raised by the Yokuts, the Native Americans of central California. Latta published his findings as a series of newspaper articles, but they would later become the basis of his first book, “Uncle Jeff’s Story: A tale of a San Joaquin Valley pioneer and his life with the Yokuts Indians,” in 1929.

Latta’s interviews with Mayfield led to a lifelong interest in the native peoples of the central and southern San Joaquin Valley, particularly the Yokuts and the Miwok. In order to better understand Yokuts culture, Latta studied different dialects and supplemented his knowledge by corresponding with anthropologists of his day. This included linguist and ethnologist John P. Harrington, with whom he formed a close friendship. Latta also interviewed many members of the Yokuts and Miwok tribes, spending many years tracking down individuals with first-hand knowledge of important events and stories. He took meticulous notes and eventually developing his own system to record the particular speech and memory of his interviewees. Some of his most important books, “California Indian Folklore” (1936) and “Handbook of Yokuts Indians” (1949), drew directly from this work.

Latta contextualized his interviews with the Yokuts and Miwoks by studying early California and San Joaquin Valley settler history. He read personal papers, corporate papers, and newspapers. Latta then indexed and sorted the relevant information, allowing him to publish well-researched historical accounts of the area including “El Camino Viejo a Los Angeles” in 1936 and “Black Gold in the Joaquin” in 1949.

Latta’s interest in the history of the San Joaquin Valley extended far beyond academic research. In 1952, for example, he learned that some of the Yokuts’ allotments were about to be sold by the Bureau of Indian Affairs. This prompted him to organize people to try and stop the sale. He believed that the problems faced by Yokuts in the twentieth century were directly related to the 1815 treaties and reservation system in the southern San Joaquin Valley. He thought that greater understanding of the causes of these problems would lead to possible solutions. In order to achieve this goal, he helped found the Kern County Museum in Bakersfield in 1941 to teach people the history of the place in which they lived. Latta retired from teaching and worked as the museum curator and director from 1945-1956, allowing him to focus on history full time. While at the Kern County Museum, Latta also established the Bear State Museum and Bear State Books, the first to house his collections and the later to publish his works.

In 1946, Latta and his family moved to Santa Cruz, California, where he established the Rancho Gazos Historical Indian and Early Californian Museum. He continued to write and publish books about the San Joaquin Valley. Towards the end of his life, Latta wrote prolifically, publishing “Dalton Gang Days,” “Saga of El Rancho Tejon,” and “Tailholt Tales” in 1976, “Death Valley ‘49ers” in 1979, and “Joaquin Murrieta and His Horse Gangs” in 1980. Even with all these publications, Latta left behind a wealth of unpublished information when he died in 1983. Fortunately, his papers have been housed and protected at several institutions. In 1987, with the financial assistance of the Yosemite Fund, the ethnographic papers of Frank Latta came to the Yosemite National Park Archives. These papers are only a piece of Latta's incredible legacy.

Index of Native American Names

Latta tends to refer to Native Americans by their anglicized names in his notes, but to their Native American names in his books. A cross-index may be helpful to correlate the two. This list is alphabetical by Native American name, using Latta's orthography with anglicized name and tribe following when known.

FRANK LATTA PAPERS

1797-1980, UNDATED

COLLECTION NUMBER 2003

VOLUME 34 LF

DESCRIPTION This collection contains the research of Frank Latta on Native American life in central California. Materials include field notes, correspondence, research materials, photographs, and manuscripts. The collection dates from 1797 to 1980. Some of the material is undated. The bulk of the material dates from 1930 to 1970.

ORGANIZATION The collection is arranged into eight series: Series 01: Field Notes, Series 02: Correspondence, Series 03: Manuscripts, Series 04: Sources, Series 05: Land Grants, Series 06: Essays Regarding Property, Series 07: Notecards and Research, and Series 08: Photographs. Series are arranged alphabetically by title, author, and/or subject according to the organizational system created by Frank Latta. Small changes were made to facilitate accessibility. File unit numbers for all series denote the location of materials and are assigned BOX.FOLDER. Nitrate negatives have been separated from the collection and are stored in Yosemite cold storage freezer 3, box 38-39.

PROVENANCE The materials in this collection were created by Frank Latta. They were first donated by his daughter, Monna Latta Olson to the Yosemite Association who in turn donated them to Yosemite National Park.

RESTRICTIONS No

ASSOCIATED MATERIALS Collection 1031: Historic Negative Collection (Yosemite cold storage freezer 3, box 38-39, negatives 101399-102034)

SERIES DESCRIPTIONS

FIELD NOTES, 1822-1970, UNDATED

This series is arranged alphabetically by source. Native Americans have been arranged according to their anglicized name, but Native American names are included when known.

This series contains interviews, notes, vocabularies, excavation records, maps, and drawings made in the field by Frank Latta pertaining to Native American life.

CORRESPONDENCE, 1927-1980, UNDATED

This series is arranged alphabetically by correspondent. Subject is occasionally used.

This series contains correspondence pertaining to the research and field work of Frank Latta on Native American life.

MANUSCRIPTS, 1920-1977, UNDATED

This series is arranged alphabetically by title.

This series contains manuscripts and notes pertaining to the books and various publications written by Frank Latta.

SOURCES, 1797-1978, UNDATED

This series is arranged alphabetically by whatever made it easiest for Frank Latta to find the information - by author, by subject, and sometimes by title.

This series contains original documents, publications, and notes from sources gathered by Frank Latta in the course of his research.

LAND GRANTS, 1830-1964, UNDATED

This series is arranged alphabetically by property.

This series contains original documents and photographs gathered by Frank Latta in the course of his research.

ESSAYS REGARDING PROPERTY, 1931-1932

This series is arranged alphabetically by property.

This series contains essays written by Frank Latta regarding property in central California.

NOTECARDS AND RESEARCH, 1939-1980, UNDATED

This series is arranged alphabetically by subject. Notecards with no clear subject appear at the end of the series.

This series contains notes created by Frank Latta in the course of his research.

PHOTOGRAPHS, 1883-1970, UNDATED

This series is arranged into four subseries - 01: Artifacts, Activities, and Structures, 02: Manuscripts, 03: People, and 04: Places. Note: Nitrate negatives have been removed from this series and are stored in Yosemite Archives cold storage freezer 3, box 38-39.

This series contains photographs collected and used by Frank Latta in his research and publications.

PHOTOGRAPHS - ARTIFACTS, ACTIVITIES, AND STRUCTURES, 1930-1970, UNDATED

This subseries is arranged alphabetically by subject.

This subseries contains photographs pertaining to artifacts, activities, and structures collected and used by Frank Latta in his research and publications.

PHOTOGRAPHS - MANUSCRIPTS, 1944, UNDATED

This subseries is arranged alphabetically by publication.

This subseries contains photographs used by Frank Latta in his publications.

PHOTOGRAPHS - PEOPLE, 1885-1969, UNDATED

This subseries is arranged alphabetically by person.

This subseries contains photographs pertaining to people in central California collected and used by Frank Latta in his research and publications.

PHOTOGRAPHS - PLACES, 1883-1950, UNDATED
