Statement on Archival Language:

The David Allan Hubbard Library aims to describe archival materials in a way that is respectful to all communities who use, create, and are represented in our collections. However, the nature of historical materials is such that some material may represent positions, language, values, and stereotypes that are not consistent with the current values and practices at Fuller Theological Seminary.

Within our finding aids, it is possible users may encounter language that is offensive or harmful. While some language included in finding aids was written by staff, other language originates from the people and organizations that created the material. For example, folder titles are often preserved from the creators. It is standard practice not to change them and, in some cases, it provides important context about the materials. When we find problematic language created by archivists and staff we strive to update it. When we find problematic language from the original creator we will transcribe as is to preserve the context of its creation.

Biographical History

David du Plessis (February 7, 1905- February 2, 1987), known as “Mr. Pentecost,” was a South African Pentecostal minister and one of the primary founders of the 20th century charismatic movement. He converted to Christianity in 1916, and received the Pentecostal baptism of the Holy Spirit in 1923. Du Plessis received ordination from the Apostolic Faith Mission of South Africa (AFM) in 1928, and became the general secretary in 1935. Du Plessis helped organize the first Pentecostal World Conference (PWC), held in 1947.

In 1948, Du Plessis left AFM, and became the organizing secretary for PWC (-1959). Also in 1948, Du Plessis moved to the United States and joined the Assemblies of God USA. During this time, he cultivated friendships with Pentecostals in Europe, Africa, and Asia as well as the Americas. He also maintained relationships with the South African Apostolic Faith Mission. From 1949-1951, Du Plessis taught at Lee College, a Church of God (Cleveland, Tennessee).

In 1952, the Assemblies of God (USA) granted Du Plessis preaching credentials. At this time, Du Plessis’s friendship with John McKay, then President of Princeton Seminary, helped him explore ecumenism. Du Plessis was a staff member at the World Council of Churches in 1954 and 1961. He was also invited as a Pentecostal observer at the Second Vatican Council (1962-1964). Du Plessis’ preaching credentials were revoked in 1962 in opposition to his ecumenical efforts. Du Plessis remained a member of the Assemblies of God church and in 1980, his credentials were reinstated.

An independent minister with a global outreach, David du Plessis held numerous influential positions throughout his life. His papers include material related to his tenures as secretary to the World Pentecostal Fellowship (Pentecostal World Conference), Far East Broadcasting Company agent in Greece, observer to the Second Vatican Council and the Commission on Faith and Order, and co-chair of the Roman Catholic/Pentecostal Dialogue.

Cataloger’s Note

In June 2017, a preservation assessment of the Du Plessis collection revealed the misfiling of collection materials and broken boxes among additional concerns. In June 2018, the collection was re-housed into appropriate storage containers, re-filed to the correct arrangement as needed, and (in some cases) materials re-distributed to match sustainable preservation conditions. The finding aid was updated to reflect the changes.

Scope and Content

The Papers of David Du Plessis, 1900-1987 include his correspondence with global religious leaders and local ministers, sermon notes and outlines, drafts of ecumenical documents and minutes (including those related to the International Roman Catholic-Pentecostal Dialogue), letters to his wife, and scores of ephemeral materials from various charismatic "ministries." Meritorious awards, photographs, newspaper clippings, church bulletins, and cassette tapes of talks given by David du Plessis are also within the collection.

The Du Plessis collection consists of 129 boxes of material, approximately 66 linear feet. Material dates throughout the 1900's with the bulk of the collection ranging from 1947-1986. The collection principally reflects the integration of Pentecostal and mainline Christian denominations, including Catholicism, Episcopalianism, Lutheranism, Methodism, and Presbyterianism. Formats include diaries, correspondence, newsletters, manuscripts, photographs, and ephemera. Ephemera include conferences and organizational materials, geographic and topical files, promotional material, and printed material. The printed material contains articles by Du Plessis, interviews with and articles about Du Plessis, and religious tracts and pamphlets collected by the Du Plessis.'

Du Plessis' breadth of influence in the Pentecostal and charismatic movements are reflected in the length and diversity of the correspondence. Donald Gee, Leonard Steiner, Dennis Bennett, Lewi Pethrus, and Kilian McDonnell were regular correspondents. His correspondence with Dennis Bennett, Brick Bradford, Larry Christenson, Norris Wogen, and Bob Whitaker, among others, documents the mainline charismatic renewal from its unpopular beginnings to its acceptance. Letters from Thomas Zimmerman, Oral Roberts, Yonggi Cho, and Jimmy Swaggart address Du Plessis' expulsion and reinstatement in the Assemblies of God, evangelism, and the place of Roman Catholics in the Pentecostal and charismatic renewal. Correspondence and the Roman Catholic/Pentecostal Dialogue files (1971-1986), which contain administrative material as well as notes and papers from dialogue sessions, shed light on theological similarities and differences between the two Christian movements.

People wrote to Du Plessis to support his ministry, inquire about theological issues (baptism in the Spirit and glossolalia for instance), request prayers, or invite him to address a congregation or, perhaps, a local chapter of the Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship. While Du Plessis' responses to most of these inquiries are not available, the archive has copies of the newsletters David and his wife, Anna, sent to supporters.

Series Description

Series I: Biographical materials (Boxes 1-6, 130-131)

The diaries, planners, and travel logs of Du Plessis recount his ministry from 1947 until 1985 and his first trip to America in 1937. (Filed with the manuscripts is the journal kept by Henry Stewart, a fellow South African who made the 1937 trip with Du Plessis.) Less a record of his thoughts than annotated itineraries, the diaries and travel logs of Du Plessis are sketchy, sporadic and often illegible. With time Du Plessis discontinued a diary altogether and came to rely on monthly planners. This series also includes biographical sketches, passports, sermon notes, address books, the documents of withdrawal and reinstatement issued by the Assemblies of God, as well as the Du Plessis' newsletters to friends and supporters.

Series II: Correspondence (Boxes 7-35)

The correspondence series comprises approximately 3,500 folders and spans over sixty years. The majority of letters were written between the years 1947 and 1986--a time of tremendous growth among Pentecostal denominations. Correspondence is arranged alphabetically by sender and chronologically within each folder. In those rare instances when material might have been damaged if separated, letters to and from an individual are kept in the same folder. Many of the letters are written in Afrikaans or Dutch. The majority are in English. Most folders contain one or two letters, but some consist of correspondence written over several decades.

Series III: Manuscripts: Writings of David du Plessis and those he collected (Boxes 36-50)

The majority of manuscripts are typewritten. They are divided into those authored by Du Plessis and those which were not. Many of the Du Plessis manuscripts, which number approximately 150, are sermons, prayers, transcripts of talks, and forewords. The 200 or so manuscripts not by Du Plessis range in genre from addresses, essays, forewords, textual manuscripts, papers, testimonies, prayers, prophecies, reports, sermons, and tracts to poems, lesson plans, and transcriptions. Articles translated into English or Afrikaans by Du Plessis as well as prophecies (interpretations of individuals speaking in tongues) are processed as manuscripts.

The manuscripts in the Du Plessis collection provide insights into the intellectual, doctrinal, and experiential aspects of the Pentecostal and charismatic movements. Internationally prominent Pentecostal scholars wrote some manuscripts. Other manuscripts were written by individuals who met Du Plessis at a prayer meeting or knew him through his newsletter and reputation.

Series IV: Conferences (Boxes 51-68)

The collection includes a variety of material from seventy of the conferences attended by Du Plessis between 1949 and 1986. Some files may include planning material, promotional literature, conference programs, notes taken by Du Plessis, press releases, and souvenirs, while others may contain only a song sheet and report written about the conference. Files with more detailed materials were from the conferences Du Plessis helped to organize: Christian Summit Convocations; the Pentecostal World Conferences; the Roman Catholic/Pentecostal Dialogue; and the World Council of Churches, General Assemblies, (as an observer to the Faith and Order Commission.) There exist files from Baptist, Catholic, Episcopalian, Lutheran, Methodist and Presbyterian conventions as well as Pentecostal ones.

Series V: Organizations (Boxes 69-79)

David du Plessis was affiliated with scores of Pentecostal and ecumenical organizations and served on the boards for several, such as the Elias Malki Ministries, the Institute for Ecumenical and Cultural Research, John 17:21, Logos International, One Hundred Twenty Fellowship, and the Reinhard Bonnke Ministries. The record files include mission statements, board minutes, financial statements, address lists, publications, and promotional literature. Du Plessis also maintained files for organizations in which he had an interest (if no position) and sometimes for those which engaged him to speak. Du Plessis also collected bulletins, newsletters, and tracts produced by individual churches. Some of these organizational files are extensive while others may contain little more than a company's brochure and introductory letter. These files are arranged alphabetically by the name of the institution.

Series VI: Geographical and Topical Files (Boxes 80-91)

Du Plessis was an enthusiastic traveler and an inveterate collector of ephemera. The geographic files are compilations of the material garnered by Du Plessis in his travels. These materials help to document the grassroots nature of the Pentecostal movement. Box 88 contains Du Plessis' original Pentecostal Adherents file for the World Pentecostal Conferences.

Series VII: Published Writings of David Du Plessis and those he collected (Boxes 92-107)

This series includes published interviews with David and Anna du Plessis, David du Plessis' published articles, published items about Du Plessis (including articles which quote him), and unpublished student papers and dissertations. It includes Du Plessis' large collection of published tracts, pamphlets, hymnals and booklets.

Series VIII: Promotional Material (Boxes 108-109)

This is a collection of flyers, announcements and programs collected by the Du Plessis' during the course of their worldwide ministry, chronologically arranged.

Series IX: Conference Badges, Certificates and Awards, Honors, Memberships (Boxes 110-112)

Series X: Bibles, Books (Boxes 113-115)

Series XI: Scrapbooks and Photographs (Boxes 115-124, 134)

This collection includes photographs from Du Plessis' childhood in South Africa and family in the early 1900's through 1987. These photographs document his 1937 trip to the United States and international trips abroad after his immigration to the United States in 1948. Photographs also comprise of conferences, the Roman Catholic Dialogue, and the opening celebration of the David du Plessis Archives at Fuller Theological Seminary.

Series XII: Miscellaneous Documents (Boxes 126-129)

This includes Du Plessis' collection of postcards and stamps, newsletters and prayer letters, unframed certificates and credentials, visa documents, travel mementos, church bulletins, tape ministry papers, collected prayers, poems and sermon ideas, financial documents, his last will and testament, and documents and correspondence related to the opening of the Du Plessis Center for Christian Spirituality.

Series XIII: Memorials, Condolences (Box 130)

Series XIV: Ephemera (Box 132)

Series XV: Original Inventories (Box 133)

Series III: Manuscripts: Writings of David du Plessis and those he collected, 1951-1986.
Boxes 36-50.

Series Scope and Content Note

The majority of manuscripts are typewritten. They are divided into those authored by Du Plessis and those which were not. Many of the Du Plessis manuscripts, which number approximately 150, are sermons, prayers, transcripts of talks, and forewords. The 200 or so manuscripts not by Du Plessis range in genre from addresses, essays, forewords, textual manuscripts, papers, testimonies, prayers, prophecies, reports, sermons, and tracts to poems, lesson plans, and transcriptions. Articles translated into English or Afrikaans by Du Plessis as well as prophecies (interpretations of individuals speaking in tongues) are processed as manuscripts.

The manuscripts in the Du Plessis collection provide insights into the intellectual, doctrinal, and experiential aspects of the Pentecostal and charismatic movements. Internationally prominent Pentecostal scholars wrote some manuscripts. Other manuscripts were written by individuals who met Du Plessis at a prayer meeting or knew him through his newsletter and reputation.

David du Plessis was affiliated with scores of Pentecostal and ecumenical organizations and served on the boards for several, such as the Elias Malki Ministries, the Institute for Ecumenical and Cultural Research, John 17:21, Logos International, One Hundred Twenty Fellowship, and the Reinhard Bonnke Ministries.

The record files include mission statements, board minutes, financial statements, address lists, publications, and promotional literature. Du Plessis also maintained files for organizations in which he had an interest (if no position) and sometimes for those which engaged him to speak. Du Plessis also collected bulletins, newsletters, and tracts produced by individual churches. Some of these organizational files are extensive while others may contain little more than a company's brochure and introductory letter. These files are arranged alphabetically by the name of the institution.
