Statement on Archival Language:

The David Allan Hubbard Library aims to describe archival materials in a way that is respectful to all communities who use, create, and are represented in our collections. However, the nature of historical materials is such that some material may represent positions, language, values, and stereotypes that are not consistent with the current values and practices at Fuller Theological Seminary.

Within our finding aids, it is possible users may encounter language that is offensive or harmful. While some language included in finding aids was written by staff, other language originates from the people and organizations that created the material. For example, folder titles are often preserved from the creators. It is standard practice not to change them and, in some cases, it provides important context about the materials. When we find problematic language created by archivists and staff we strive to update it. When we find problematic language from the original creator we will transcribe as is to preserve the context of its creation.

Biographical History

J. Dudley Woodberry (b. 1934 -) is considered one of the foremost Christian scholars on Islamic culture and religion. Dr. Woodberry has served as consultant on the Muslim world to President Carter, the U.S. State Department, USAID, and other U.S. government agencies. He has also been an active part of the Zewer Institute for Muslim Studies and has served as coordinator and acting senior associate of the Muslim track of the Lausanne Committee for World Evangelism. While at Fuller Seminary, Dr. Woodberry served as Dean of the Graduate School of World Mission (later renamed the Graduate School of Intercultural Studies) from 1992-1999, and a senior professor of Islamic Studies.

Dr. Woodberry worked as a teacher in Pakistan and a pastor in Afghanistan and Saudi Arabia. He has ministered in at least 35 predominantly Muslim nations around the world.

Select publications include:

From Seed to Fruit: Global Trends, Fruitful Practices, and Emerging Issues among Muslims (2010)

Paradigm Shifts in Christian Witness: Insights from Anthropology, Communication, and Spiritual Power (co-edited, 2008)

Resources for Peacemaking in Muslim Christian Relations (co-edited, 2006)

Muslim and Christian Missiological Education for the 21st Century: The Book, the Circle, the Sandals (co-edited, 1996)

Muslims and Christians on the Emmaus Road (editor, 1989)

Cataloger's Note

Donated materials from 2024 are unprocessed.

Scope and Content

The Papers of Dr. J. Dudley Woodberry is a collection filled with extensive research into the Muslim faith as well as its relation to (and possible relation to) the Christian faith. Materials reflect Woodberry's personal research efforts as well as those by his students in Fuller Seminary's MR555 Folk Islam courses. Topics cover Muslim popular piety, visions and dreams, Sufis, Qurani healing and medicine, Kabbalah, and saint veneration. Some materials are associated with specific people groups in geographic regions.

Fuller Seminary administrative records involve MR555 Folk Islam course outlines, recommended bibliographies, and Power Encounter course records. An extensive section covers an analysis of spiritual conversions, with questionnaires and data evaluation.
