Statement on Archival Language:
The David Allan Hubbard Library aims to describe archival materials in a way that is respectful to all communities who use, create, and are represented in our collections. However, the nature of historical materials is such that some material may represent positions, language, values, and stereotypes that are not consistent with the current values and practices at Fuller Theological Seminary.

Within our finding aids, it is possible users may encounter language that is offensive or harmful. While some language included in finding aids was written by staff, other language originates from the people and organizations that created the material. For example, folder titles are often preserved from the creators. It is standard practice not to change them and, in some cases, it provides important context about the materials. When we find problematic language created by archivists and staff we strive to update it. When we find problematic language from the original creator we will transcribe as is to preserve the context of its creation.

Biographical History

Thomas Lee Osborn (born December 23, 1923 – died February 14, 2013) was an American Pentecostal evangelist and author. He married Daisy Washburn Osborn in 1942 and they worked together as evangelists in the Pentecostal Church of God denomination. In 1944, they moved to Oregon and founded Mantaville Tabernacle, which they pastored until 1945. At that time, the Church sent them as missionaries to India. The couple returned to Oregon in 1946. They attended William Branham's healing meeting and became affiliated with the Voice of Healing organization. Between 1950 and 1964, the Osborns held large crusades in 40 countries, many featuring dramatic healings and largescale evangelism. In 1956, they began to publish Faith Digest, which reported on many of these crusades. In the 1960s, the Osborns turned their attention to teaching; Mrs. Osborn spoke to women worldwide. They published books, videos and audio cassettes of their teachings. Many of these works have been translated into a multitude of other languages. Mrs. Osborn passed away in 1995. Mr. Osborn continued in the ministry and their daughter LaDonna became CEO of Osborn Ministries International.
