Statement on Archival Language:

The David Allan Hubbard Library aims to describe archival materials in a way that is respectful to all communities who use, create, and are represented in our collections. However, the nature of historical materials is such that some material may represent positions, language, values, and stereotypes that are not consistent with the current values and practices at Fuller Theological Seminary.

Within our finding aids, it is possible users may encounter language that is offensive or harmful. While some language included in finding aids was written by staff, other language originates from the people and organizations that created the material. For example, folder titles are often preserved from the creators. It is standard practice not to change them and, in some cases, it provides important context about the materials. When we find problematic language created by archivists and staff we strive to update it. When we find problematic language from the original creator we will transcribe as is to preserve the context of its creation.

Biographical History

Ross and Gloria Kinsler are best known for their work in the Theological Education by Extension movement, which began in Guatemala and rapidly spread through Latin America in the 1950s-1960s. Ross grew up in Seattle, WA and Gloria grew up in North and South Korea. They met at Princeton Seminary. Following graduate study in Edinburg, Scotland, the couple was assigned by the Presbyterian Church USA to Mission work in Central America. The couple began with Spanish language study in Costa Rica, then theological education in Guatemala and later in Costa Rica. During that time, Ross and Gloria were exposed to the social upheaval and oppression being experienced in countries such as Guatemala, El Salvador, and Honduras.

In Ross Kinsler's words:

“Our vision of the world and of the Gospel was shaped by the witness of the oppressed peoples we came to know and love. Hundreds of thousands of Central American men, women, and children have been tortured and massacred, especially among the indigenous Maya of Guatemala. We understand that our faith calls us to a Theology of Liberation and a Liberation of Theology. This is an essential reading of Central America and much of our world even today. This has become our calling in memory of so many whose lives have been sacrificed.”

During that time, the Kinslers found themselves contributing to the creation of the Theological Education by Extension movement. Their work included classes with peasant farmers in the highlands of Guatemala; workshops among theological educators and students in Bolivia, Argentina and Venezuela; conversations with indigenous pastors in Peru, Ecuador, and Panama; intensive courses on the biblical Jubilee in Brazil, Columbia, and Mexico; and consultations on the renewal of theological education and ministry around the world.

As of 2018, the Kinslers live in Southern California. They have lived and worked together in Scotland, Guatemala (1964-1977), Geneva (1977-1983), New Jersey, and California (1983-1987 and 2000-2018), and Costa Rica (1987-2000).

Cataloger's Note

Ross and Gloria Kinsler provided the original Series divisions, and arrangements for notebooks donated pre-2014. They wrote introductions to related materials in the F. Ross Kinsler Archives Introduction Notebook (Series 1, Box 1).

Series 9 & Series 10 include materials related to the Theological Education (Africa, Asia, Latin America Network) and Additional Artifacts. These materials were added post-2014. Materials were donated in organized notebooks and in unorganized file folders. Loose folders are arranged according to series. Files taken from notebooks were retained in their original order.

Catalogers attempted to retain Spanish language characters in the descriptive lists. Formatting may be lost across file formats and/or web platforms.

Scope and Content

The F. Ross Kinsler Theological Education by Extension Collection, 1964-2013 consists of correspondence, educational pamphlets, seminar records, reports, memos, and ephemera related to the Theological Education by Extension movement. Records are directly related to the program and curricular development in regions such as Southern California, Guatemala, Geneva and Costa Rica. Archival materials are in English and Spanish languages.

Dedication Note by Ross Kinsler:

“Under these notes lies an enormous debt of gratitude for those who have accompanied us throughout this journey, whom have shared their vision and their gifts, who continue to show us the way into God’s justice, peace, and integrity of creation. Most important has been Gloria’s partnership in all the above and especially her leadership in the Sanctuary Movement, bringing us the voices of victims of empire in the face of that empire. Likewise for years she has guided US church delegations through the maize of terror and obfuscation in Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Costa Rica and Nicaragua and in this country,” F. Ross Kinsler.
