

Hoover Institution Access Criteria and Use Agreement for the Conflict Records Research Center (CRRC) Collection

1. Material from the Conflict Records Research Center Collection housed at the Hoover Institution Library & Archives may not be photocopied, photographed, or scanned without first having signed this agreement. Users may not download the collection to electronic or digital storage devices.
2. Quotations from the Conflict Records Research Center Collection may be protected by copyright law. The Hoover Institution, Stanford University, does not hold copyright to any of the materials in the collection; it is the researchers' responsibility, when necessary, to obtain copyright permission. The Hoover Institution is not responsible for any misuse by researchers of quotations obtained from the Conflict Records Research Center Collection.
3. The Conflict Records Research Center Collection contain Personally Identifiable Information (PII) about individuals, potentially without their knowledge, from the original Iraq and Afghan creators. PII includes information which can be used to distinguish or trace an individual's identity, such as his or her name, address, personal email addresses and telephone numbers, social security numbers, family member names, biometric record, etc. alone, or when combined with other personal or identifying information which is linked or linkable to a specific individual, such as date and place of birth, mother's maiden name, etc.
4. To protect PII, researchers may not publish, in any format including but not limited to, print, electronic, or digital format or over the Internet, any book, article, manuscript, commentary, blog entry, or other written material that cites PII--with the exception of the names of deceased or public officials (e.g. Saddam Hussein).
5. The Conflict Records Research Center Collection are part of the historic record. The Hoover Institution cannot verify the accuracy of the content of these materials.
6. Violation of the terms of this agreement or of any of the policies of the Hoover Institution or of Stanford University may result in forfeiture of the privilege to access and to use any materials at the Hoover Institution Library & Archives.
7. By signing this agreement, I agree to abide by the agreement's conditions and to indemnify and hold harmless the Hoover Institution, Stanford University, and their principals, staff, and agents from any damages that may result from my access and use of the Conflict Records Research Center Collection.

---

Signature

---

Name (print)

---

Date