They're a legion of leaders, our American people,
Who stand shoulders and head over all,
And when other nations with us do compete
Our heroes will answer the call.
There is yachting, boxing, flying and tennis,
And our great national game of baseball;
But one we will mention with heroic nerve
That's Lindbergh, the King of Them All.

Lindy's first flight for fame and his laurels did gain
When his parachute saved him a fall,
Now that he's conquered the air and the sea,
He's the first one and—now over all
He's fearless and brave, no honor to crave,
Yet his deeds in our hearts he'll enscroll;
Lindy's startled the world, now his name is unfurled
As the wonder and King of Them All.

In years yet to come when his story is told
We all shall cherish his name,

And read with delight of Lindy's great flight
And we will love and honor his fame.
Our children shall know, why we honor him so,
And his daring feat we will recall;
We shall always prove true, to our heroes who do,
But hold Lindbergh, the King of Them All.

Our boy, your Uncle Sam is proud
To you, who all the nations bowed,
The pace you set, the honor you won
You're the God of Air, sea and sun.
Your mother who had faith in you,
Our hearts and soul were for you, too,
San Diego's proud, we built your plane,
Now we'll place you in our halls of fame.

FINIS

With courage rare, your smile so fair
In our lives you've made a story
Linking our deeds, with all creeds
For Friendship, Peace and Glory.
