Statement on Archival Language:

The David Allan Hubbard Library aims to describe archival materials in a way that is respectful to all communities who use, create, and are represented in our collections. However, the nature of historical materials is such that some material may represent positions, language, values, and stereotypes that are not consistent with the current values and practices at Fuller Theological Seminary.

Within our finding aids, it is possible users may encounter language that is offensive or harmful. While some language included in finding aids was written by staff, other language originates from the people and organizations that created the material. For example, folder titles are often preserved from the creators. It is standard practice not to change them and, in some cases, it provides important context about the materials. When we find problematic language created by archivists and staff we strive to update it. When we find problematic language from the original creator we will transcribe as is to preserve the context of its creation.

Administrative/Biographical History

The Society for Pentecostal Studies (SPS) is a scholarly association devoted to the academic study of the Pentecostal and Charismatic Movements and related traditions. Fuller Seminary is designated as the official depository of the society. Holdings include administrative papers, financial ledgers, and correspondence related to the society's journal, Pneuma, and its newsletter.

SPS grew out of conversations over dinner at the Ninth Pentecostal World Conference in 1970. It was organized to address the theological and historiographical needs of Pentecostal pastors, teachers and scholars. Of the 139 delegates to the World Conference, 108 signed on as charter members under the leadership of William W. Menzies of the Assemblies of God, Vinson Synan of the Pentecostal Holiness Church and Horace Ward of the Church of God (Cleveland). The stated purpose was "to serve the church world by providing an authoritative interpretation of the Pentecostal Movement."

At first limited in membership to classical Pentecostals, in 1982 SPS opened to those of other mainline traditions such as Wesleyans and Charismatics. The journal published by SPS, Pneuma, was established in 1979.

Scope and Content

The Society for Pentecostal Studies (SPS) Collection consists of administrative papers, financial ledgers, and correspondence. Records also include meeting minutes, conference papers, and audio-visual materials. The collection includes complete sets of the society's journal, Pneuma, and its newsletter. Dates span from 1971-2010.
