COPYRIGHT AND RESTRICTIONS

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted materials. The various state privacy acts govern the use of materials that document private individuals, groups, and corporations.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a reproduction if the document does not infringe the privacy rights of an individual, group, or corporation. These specified conditions of authorized use include:

- non-commercial and non-profit study, scholarship, or research, or teaching
- criticism, commentary, or news reporting
- as a NPS preservation or security copy
- as a research copy for deposit in another institution

If a user later uses a copy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," the user may be personally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement. This institution's permission to obtain a photographic, xerographic, digital, or other copy of a document doesn't indicate permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, sell, distribute, or prepare derivative works from this document without first obtaining permission from the copyright holder and from any private individual, group, or corporation shown or otherwise recorded.

Permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, prepare derivative works from, sell, or otherwise distribute the item must be obtained by the user separately in writing from the holder of the original copyright (or if the creator is dead from his/her heirs) as well as from any individual(s), groups, or corporations whose name, image, recorded words, or private information (e.g., employment information) may be reproduced in the source material. The holder of the original copyright isn't necessarily the National Park Service. The National Park Service is not legally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement when materials are wrongfully used after being provided to researchers for "fair use."

This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if fulfillment of the order is judged in violation of copyright or federal or state privacy or publicity law.

HISTORY

1889 - 2003

The Yosemite Park and Curry Company Collection contains the business records of one of the largest and longest operating concessionaires in the National Park System. The Yosemite Park and Curry Company (YP&CC) was organized in 1925 when Yosemite's two largest concessionaires merged: The Yosemite National Park Co. (previously the D J Desmond Co.) operated the Yosemite Lodge and other smaller enterprises at Yosemite, and the Curry Camping Co., which operated Camp Curry. Creation of the new company was the culmination of a decade-long effort by NPS Director Stephen Mather to consolidate services at Yosemite to better serve the visiting public and more efficiently develop visitor services in the park.

During its sixty-eight years of operation, YP&CC interactions with the NPS set many precedents for concessionaire operations in the national park system and played an influential role in the development of tourism in California. Among the company's most significant activities was the development of a strong winter sports infrastructure and tradition at Yosemite, including construction and operation of Badger Pass, California's first downhill ski area, establishment of the Yosemite Winter Club, the construction of the Ahwahnee Hotel; and creation of the Bracebridge Dinner. Among other accomplishments, the company also expanded the High Sierra Camps and created the Yosemite Mountaineering School.

The collection includes a large assemblage of documents, photographs, ephemera, architectural drawings, motion picture film, and audio cassettes. Approximately 480 linear feet of records are arranged into eleven series by company and document type. Subjects: Operations, facilities, services, and promotion of the YP&CC (and preceding concessionaires) at Yosemite, including such activities as transportation of visitors, construction and maintenance of structures; personnel activities; staff at work (including such notable employees as Ansel Adams and Dana Morgenson), and special events.
