

FALL COLLECTION

Albert Bacon Fall (1861-1944), one of New Mexico's first senators (1912-1921) and Secretary of the Interior in Harding's Cabinet (1921-1923), is best remembered for his role in the Teapot Dome Affair. He was born in Frankfort, Kentucky, and came West in his late teens, because of poor health and to seek his fortune. After working as a cowboy, prospector, miner, and bookkeeper, Fall took up the study of law. His reputation as an attorney versed in the intricacies of Mexican and American land law brought him to the attention of Col. William C. Greene, who held vast cattle, mining, timber, and railroading interests in Chihuahua and Sonora, Mexico. Fall became Greene's general counselor and manager, and after his death liquidated Greene's interests.

In 1906 Fall purchased the Three Rivers Ranch in New Mexico and entered the cattle business. He took an active interest in politics and was selected by the legislature as senator. In this capacity he was principally identified with matters relating to the development of the West, and with American-Mexican relations because of his position as chairman of the Senate Subcommittee Investigating Mexican Affairs.

As Secretary of the Interior Fall concentrated his efforts on problems related to the development of the nation's natural resources. Within six months, he was deeply involved in a controversy with the conservationists over his policy of development of Alaska's resources, his proposal to transfer the Forestry Bureau from the Agricultural Department to the Interior Department, and his leasing of the Elk Hills, Calif., and Teapot Dome, Wyoming Naval Oil Reserves, to Edward L. Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair. The intense criticism resulting from the controversy plus Fall's desire to repair his personal finances prompted him to resign from the Cabinet on March 4, 1923. After investigation and litigation lasting 8 years, Fall was convicted of accepting a bribe, sentenced to a year in the Federal Penitentiary at Santa Fe and a $100,000 fine. Subsequently, Fall lost his vast Three Rivers Ranch and his fortune, dying in obscurity in an El Paso hospital in 1944.

Provenance:

The Fall papers were a gift to the Library (1952-1963) from Mahlon T. Everhart, Jr., of Hachita, N.M., grandson of Albert B. Fall.

Number of pieces: Approximately 55,000 pieces

Lane, chairman of the American-Mexican Joint Commission appointed by Wilson to settle the Mexican dispute. Boxes 71-109

Arrangement:

The collection is composed of several files kept by Fall: a) Family and business papers; b) Personal Files for the Department of the Interior; c) Oil File and International Oil File (see index at beginning of Oil File); d) Testimony for the Senate Subcommittee Investigating Mexican Affairs (92 volumes); e) Franklin K. Lane's files on the American-Mexican Joint Commission; f) Miscellaneous correspondence.

The original arrangement of the files has been preserved as far as possible; obvious misfilings and inconsistencies have been corrected.

With a view to facilitate self-service by the reader the collection has been arranged alphabetically within the categories listed under subject matter. Covering dates and a brief descriptive note of contents will be found on the folders; in some cases the word "index" appears on the folder, which indicates that the cataloguer's detailed information on its contents will be found inside.

Information on the family and business affairs of Fall may be found in the following folders: Chase, Clarence C.; Elliott, Jouett A. (Fall); Everhart, Mahlon T.; Fall, Emma Garland (Morgan); Petty, Katherine (Fall); Tres Ritos Cattle and Land Co.

Cards for only the most important persons and subjects in the collection are filed alphabetically and chronologically in the MSS. catalogue. The reader may also consult the cataloguer's working card (paper slips) file which is kept with the collection. The larger slips representing folder titles are preceded by smaller slips--chronologically arranged--for author, addressee, and subject matter.

Physical description:

The collection consists mostly of typed letters and carbons, with some holograph originals. Scattered through the collection are newspaper clippings, government documents, pamphlets, maps, and a few drafts, in Fall's hand, of speeches given in and outside the Senate. The bulk of the papers are in good condition, with a few exceptions of water and rat damage.

Printed topographical maps of the Tularosa Basin in New Mexico that were acquired separately by the Library in 1963 to provide further information about the Fall Collection have been transferred to the Rare Book Department in 1984.

Note: This collection is one group of the papers of Albert B. Fall. It came to the Library through his grandson, Mahlon T. Everhart, Jr. Other papers were in the hands of Fall's two surviving daughters, Mrs. Alexina Chase of Ruidoso, N.M. and Mrs. Jouett Elliott of El Paso. After the death of Mrs. Chase in 1971, her papers were given to the Rio Grande Historical Collection at New Mexico State University at Las Cruces, according to her wishes. Other papers are at the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque where there is also a microfilm of most of the papers held by the Huntington (see their published guide, List of the Albert B. Fall Papers [HD 242.5 N4]). Their microfilm was made prior to the arrival of the papers at the Huntington Library, therefore there is no correlation of the order. David H. Stratton, in his book Albert B. Fall and the Teapot Dome Affair (HD 242.5 S8) describes the various holdings.

Following this summary report is a listing of the most important folders in each section of Fall's papers, a description of sub-collection files that came with the papers, and a complete index of folder titles and authors of letters found in the Fall Collection.

CATALOGUER'S NOTES

Lane File

The Lane File consists of 2 boxes of material (approximately 400 pieces) dating mainly from 1916-1917 and centering about the American-Mexican Joint Commission. These papers were apparently given to Fall by Franklin K. Lane at a later date for Fall's use in his subcommittee investigations of the Mexican situation. They are interesting because they show the contrasting viewpoint of the Wilson administration with its goals and problems. These two boxes are filed at the end of the Fall papers, supplementing the Mexican Affairs section and the cards are interfiled.

Oil File

The "Oil File" was a separate group of material received later than the rest of the Fall material. Mr. Bliss brought it in after a trip to visit Mahlon T. Everhart, Jr. and it was received Sep. 20, 1963. There are two separate types of material which were interfiled. The first type had handwritten labels and each had a number. Some of these form the basis of Fall's "International Oil File," the index of which precedes this collection. The second type of folder has typewritten labels and consists mainly of statistics from the Bureau of Mines or reprints of articles. These have no numbers and are not included in Fall's index.

Of the numbered folders some appear to be missing. These may be filed within other folders or have been taken out by Fall during the investigations. The missing numbers are as follows: A-2, B-8, D-4, D-5, F-2, H-1, H-3, O-4, P-3, R-2, R-4, T-6, U-1, U-3, W-4

The collection is of interest because it shows Fall's preoccupation with the problem of foreign control of major oil resources and the need for the U.S. to have adequate supplies in time of danger, justifying utilization of the naval oil reserves. The newspaper accounts of Teapot Dome and surrounding events are contained in two folders of clippings.
