Extent of Collection 4,538 folders (approximately 113 linear feet)

Name of Creator Kemble, John Haskell, 1912-1990

Biographical Note John Haskell Kemble (1912-1990), Jack to his family and friends, was born June 17, 1912, in Marshalltown, Iowa. He was the only child of Ira Oscar Kemble and Caroline Haskell Kemble. His father owned and operated several greenhouses which grew flowers for the florist trade. In the late teens, Jack's father sold most of his greenhouses and in 1921, the family moved to California. The Kemble's first lived in Eagle Rock, then Pasadena. Jack graduated from Pasadena High School in 1930, and went to Pasadena Junior College in 1931, before transferring to Stanford, where he earned his B.A. in 1933. Jack then crossed the Bay and studied under Prof. Herbert Eugene Bolton at the University of California, Berkeley, earning his M.A. in 1934, and his Ph.D. in 1937. Through the contacts made by Bolton and Henry Wagner, Kemble joined the Pomona College faculty in 1936 as a Professor of History. He retired from Pomona 41 years later, in 1977.

During World War II Jack served in the U.S. Navy, from 1942-1946, in the Office of Chief of Naval Operations and on the Staff of Commander-in-Chief, U.S. Pacific Fleet and Pacific Ocean Areas. In October 1945 he received a Commendation Ribbon from Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz during a ceremony at Pearl Harbor. Jack rose from Ensign to Lieutenant Commander during the war, remained active in the US Naval Reserve after the war, and retired as Commander, USNR, in 1960.

In peacetime Jack was also busy outside of his professorial duties at Pomona. He was a Visiting Professor, at the Naval War College, Newport, R.I., 1952-1953; was on the faculty of the Munson Institute of American Maritime History, Mystic, Conn., teaching during Summers from 1955-1981; served on the Secretary of the Navy's Advisory Committee on Naval History from 1961-1980; and on the California State Historical Resources Commission from 1976-1979 and again from 1985-1990 (Chairman, 1987-1988).

His PhD thesis, The Panama Route, 1848-1869, was first published by the Univ. of California Press in 1943, and remains one of the principle resources on that pivotal time in US and Pacific Maritime history. He also wrote San Francisco Bay: a pictorial maritime history, published by the Cornell Maritime Press in 1957 and was the editor for a definitive edition of Two years before the mast by Richard Henry Dana, Jr., published by Ward Ritchie Press in 1964; he also edited To California and the South Seas: the diary of Albert G. Osburn, 1849-1851, published by the Huntington Library in 1966.

Jack was an active member of the Zamorano Club, as well as other organizations and groups including: the California Historical Society; E Clampus Vitus; and the Los Angeles Corral of the Westerners. In February of 1990 Jack was on his fourth round the World cruise on the P&O liner Canberra when, between New Zealand and Australia, he passed away, asleep in a deck chair.

- Scope Content Note Part of the Kemble collection donated by John Haskell Kemble, the Kemble Maritime Ephemera Collection was assembled by Kemble through purchases of ephemera from travel agencies and other collectors, as well as items collected during his own travels. The collection contains ephemeral materials from over 925 shipping companies, including ship histories, travel brochures, schedules and passenger lists. There are over 24,000 items in the collection. There are 925 companies represented, including some of the prominent companies of the 20th century: American President Lines, Canadian Pacific, Cunard Steamship Company, Holland Amerika Lijn, Matson Navigation Company, Pacific Mail Steamship Company, Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, and White Star Line. The collection also includes some 3-D items.
- Arrangement The ephemera is organized into series arranged alphabetically by corporate name; within each corporate series the material is organized into the following four sub-series: brochures; schedules and rates; ship information; and other items. Brochures are primarily multipage pamphlets, but may also include flyers and broadsides. The schedules and rates are organized in reverse chronological order. Dr. Kemble organized the schedules in this manner and it was thought better to keep that arrangement. Another Kemble arrangement is the sub-series for ship information; this is ephemera on individual ships, such as menus, passenger lists, passenger accommodations, and publicity pamphlets. The final sub-series, other items, is set aside for the miscellaneous ephemera that does not fit in the previous three sub-series.
- Access A database finding aid for the collection is available; each company is assigned an series number and materials should be requested using the company name and the series number. Please contact the Chief Curator of Rare Books for access.
- Language The materials are primarily in English; there are also some materials in French, Italian, German, Spanish, Dutch, Swedish and Japanese.
- Repository The Huntington Library, Art Collections and Botanical Gardens, 1151 Oxford Road, San Marino, CA 91108
- Processing Note Collection processed 1999 to 2006 by Mario M. Einaudi. Finding aid based on collection database printed August, 2006 by Mario M. Einaudi. Finding Aid revised June, 2008, following the assignment of series numbers to individual companies by Mario M. Einaudi.
