Donna Jeanne Haraway Papers
Series 7: Digital Files
File Directory

This searchable document lists the digital files in the Donna Jeanne Haraway Papers: Series 7: Digital Files.

General note

This file directory includes date last modified, size, file name, and file type/extension for each file. Number of files are listed for each folder.

Access information

Open for research. Digital files are available in the UCSC Special Collections and Archives reading room. Some files may require reformatting before they can be accessed. Technical limitations may hinder the Library's ability to provide access to some digital files. Access to digital files on original carriers is prohibited; users must request to view access copies. Contact Special Collections and Archives in advance to request access to digital files.

Processing information

The digital files in this collection were processed by Annika Berry and Alix Norton in 2025. Files were transferred from two primary sources: Haraway's personal Macintosh computer hard drive (source_HD) and digital media carriers (source_disks) donated alongside her physical papers. The carriers include 14 3.5-inch floppy disks, 17 CDs, 8 DVDs, and one 8GB flash drive. Files from Haraway's hard drive were transferred to a Library server in May 2024 by Alix Norton, while files from the carriers were transferred in two stages, in 2018 by student assistants and in 2024 by Alix Norton. Dates may have been altered due to technology used to transfer and manage files, especially in the source_disks component.

DataAccessioner v1.2 was used to capture digital files from the carriers. Several tools supported file analysis: TreeSize Pro helped identify and remove exact duplicates, calculate file sizes, and locate personally identifiable information; DROID was used to detect extension mismatches; and manual file review (via MacOS Finder or Windows File Explorer, QuickView Plus, and Notepad) was conducted to identify out-of-scope materials and additional personally identifiable information. Files containing personally identifiable information—such as social security numbers, bank account details, and account passwords—as well as confidential personnel records and private student files were deleted in accordance with UCSC Special Collections & Archives' privacy policy. Other files removed during processing included exact duplicates, system and temporary files, internet files, application files, drivers, and software installers, as well as MacOS-specific system files (e.g., thumbs.db, .DS_Store).

Compressed container files (e.g., .zip) were extracted and their contents saved, while the original compressed files were deleted. Empty folders were retained when files were removed. Duplicate files with different filenames were also removed, though researchers can request access to the duplicates log to locate retained versions.

Certain older files in unreadable formats were retained in the collection in the event that future technological advancements enable access; approximately 3,500 transferred files have unknown file types or extensions and may not be accessible. Four 3.5-inch floppy disks could not be transferred due to technological constraints; these original disks were retained in the collection along with the other digital media carriers, with the exception of Haraway's personal computer hard drive which was not transferred to the Library. Files were not reformatted, and file names are original to the creator, with the exception of some characters (including [ ] . $ • &) which were replaced with an underscore (_) during processing.

Organization and Arrangement

This series contains digital files originating from two main sources and are arranged into two sub-components: files from Haraway's personal desktop computer hard drive are located in the source_HD component and files captured from digital media carriers are in the source_disks component. The bulk of Haraway's digital files (over 80%) originates from her desktop computer hard drive in the source_HD component, which she organized into folders with subject labels such as "Art," "Books," "Professional," and "Work in Prgrss" [sic.]. The original order of this file directory has been maintained without intervention by archives staff. Haraway named many files using shorthand or abbreviations, often omitting vowels. Original file names were maintained with the exception of the removal of some characters for file preservation purposes. In the source_disks component, files are arranged by identification number (e.g. ua0042_med_0001) assigned by archives staff upon capture of the digital files from the original digital media carriers.
